

INT. BASEMENT - NIGHT

TEMI (21) is looking through the basement storage room going through his dad's stuff.

Temi looks through the junk a little longer before giving up. He walks over to another area and starts looking again.

Just as Temi is about to give up, he sees something under all the junk, something blue. He clears the way and pulls out a baby blue guitar.

He picks up and inspects it.

TEMI

Finally! I wonder what this is doing under here.

Temi inspects the guitar some more. He notices there's a note attached to the back side.

TEMI

What's this? "magical guitar. Please use with caution." Yea right.

Temi takes the guitar to his desk. He tunes the guitar and then begins to play a string of notes. He stops and sighs.

TEMI

Magical? More like old and dingy.

He puts the guitar back in its spot and then goes to use the bathroom. As he washes his hands, he looks in the mirror and thinks to himself.

TEMI

I wish my hair was longer. It's way too short.

Temi goes into the kitchen and makes himself dinner. He then heads up upstairs to brush his teeth.

He turns the light on and looks in the mirror. He's shocked. His hair is now grown out. Temi touches it. He's shocked and impressed.

TEMI

There's no way.

Temi rushes back downstairs. He takes out the guitar again. He stares at it for a moment before beginning to play.

TEMI

I wish I had my own guitar.

Temi hides the guitar again and makes his way back upstairs.

INT. BEDROOM

Temi enters his bedroom and on his bed lies a guitar case. He walks over to it and opens it and in it is a brand new guitar. He brushes his fingers over the strings before picking it up.

As he lifts it, he inspects it. He's elated. He looks down in the case to see a strange note. Temi picks it up and reads it.

TEMI

To whom much is given.

He balls it up and throws it on the floor. He sits on his bed and begins to play his new guitar. Then he gets an idea. He quickly makes his way down to the basement again.

Temi takes out the guitar and sits at his desk one last time. He begins to play.

TEMI

I wish for a new car.

He hides the guitar one last time before heading to the living room.

INT. LIVING ROOM

Temi grabs the remote and turns on the tv before plopping down on the couch. As he does, he feels something underneath him. He grabs what was underneath him as he pulls it up. It's car keys.

TEMI

No way!

Temi's eyes widen? He rushes to the door and sees a another note. He ignores it and opens the door. It's a BMW sitting outside.

TEMI

It's a bit small but it's still a car.

He puts on his shoes and rushes outside. He opens the car door and sees yet a note on the driver's set.

TEMI

What is up with these stupid notes?

TEMI PICKS UP THE NOTE, BALLS IT UP AND TOSSES IT. AS HE DOES HE BEGINS TO COUGH. HIS HEARTS STARTS TO RACE AND CHEST GETS TIGHTER. HE QUICKLY GOES BACK INSIDE.

TEMI

what is this? Why can't I breathe?

Temi stumbles up the stairs attempting to get to his medication in the bed room. He sees more notes as he walks up the steps. He stops at his bedroom door with the final note on the door.

INT. BEDROOM

Temi opens his bedroom door once more and collapses on the floor. He crawls towards the bookshelf. His medication is sitting on one of the shelves.

As he uses the last of his strength he reaches for the meds until he collapses completely, knocking down the meds in the process.

Temi reaches one last time for the meds before giving up.
